PHASEIN launches the world's smallest multi-gas analyzer - the IRMA™ probe at MEDICA 2003

PHASEIN launches the IRMA probes – ultra-small gas monitoring probes - at the MEDICA 2003 industry trade fair in Düsseldorf, Germany. PHASEIN introduces a radically new, ultra-small and clinically significant gas monitoring solution for use within intensive care, anesthesia and emergency care. MEDICA is the number one global meeting point for the medical sector and every year the fair hosts exhibitors from over 60 countries as well as visitors from almost 100 countries.

PHASEIN illustrates the simplicity and convenience of the IRMA probes with the help of a Pocket PC, converting the handheld unit into a multi-gas monitor.

"The launch of the IRMA probe at the MEDICA industry trade fair in Düsseldorf is the result of our 25 years of expertise and tradition developing gas analysis systems and marks a new era in gas monitoring," says PHASEIN CEO Robert Zyzanski.

PHASEIN develops, manufactures and markets ultra-small gas monitoring probes, which can be integrated into patient monitors, anesthesia delivery systems and ventilators. PHASEIN's multi-parameter probe IRMA is the size of an oximeter probe and thus overcomes the limitations of currently available solutions, namely: convenience, mobility and ease of integration. The target groups for the IRMA probes are international medical equipment companies working within the fields of anesthesia, intensive care and emergency care.

PHASEIN's in-house tradition and expertise in developing gas analysis systems has resulted in the launch of the world's smallest multi-gas analyser – the IRMA probe.
